SAN DIEGO, Apr 22, 2004 (BUSINESS WIRE) — Baja Bob's(R) Low-Carb Bar Mixes (www.bajabobs.com) announced today that their popular low-carb margarita mixes are now available at Ruby Tuesday (NYSE:RI), a 600 company-owned and franchised restaurant chain that offers a casual dining experience with a motto "Be the Best Where it Counts." Mixed with a choice of healthy, low-carb menu items, Ruby Tuesday offers everything from burgers to an incredible salad bar to other low-calorie picks on the company's new "Smart Eating" options. The Ruby Tuesday's Smart Eating menu was created to provide one of the first low-carb, low-calorie menus in a chain restaurant.

"We are excited that the Ruby Tuesday organization has chosen to add Baja Bob's Margaritas to their low-carb line-up. They have really taken the lead in providing their customers with a way to dine out on quality food and still enjoy a reduced carb lifestyle," said Baja Bob's co-founder Craig Cook.

A Baja Bob's low-carb margarita contains approximately 60-percent fewer calories than a traditional margarita and has only one gram of carbs — even with the tequila. This compares to the 20 to 30 grams of carbohydrates in traditional corn syrup mixes. By sweetening their products with Splenda(R), Baja Bob's has created a great-tasting margarita that is full of lime flavor without added corn syrup and free of the "chemical" after-taste associated with other reduced calorie alternatives.

Known for quality, Ruby Tuesday's eatery offers a wide selection of quality food and drinks and is located throughout the country.

Additional Baja Bob's(R) Bar Mixes flavors available elsewhere include: Original Margarita, Wild Strawberry Margarita, Desert Key Lime Margarita, Lean & Mean Bloody Mary, Crazy Caribe Pina Colada, Loco Lemon Sweet & Sour and Maui Madness Mai Tai. Prices range from $4.95–$7.00 per bottle and can be found at nationwide outlets including Albertsons, Safeway, Bed Bath & Beyond, select Costco locations in the Pacific Northwest, Gristedes and other fine locations.
